Christopher Spitzmiller, Inc. is an established high-end designer ceramics studio based in New York City and Millbrook, NY. We are looking for a studio assistant to join our team of artisans and assist in the production of our tableware, accessories, and lamps at our Millbrook studio.

The ideal candidate for this position should have a minimum of 3 years of studio experience and a basic understanding of the materials and associated tools used in a ceramic studio environment. Those who have similar working studio experience in a related discipline (sculpture, glass blowing, etc.) should also feel free to apply as we are willing to train the right candidate.

The studio assistant's responsibilities can include but are not limited to slip casting, trimming, slip trailing, glazing, kiln loading, wheel throwing and hand building. This position can be physically demanding and requires the ability to lift and move up to 75lbs repeatedly and safely. Effective communication and the ability to work closely with others is essential to successfully performing the duties of this role.

Our studio assistants are thoroughly trained to be well-versed in all aspects of clay production using a variety of methods specific to our studio. Previous experience with plaster mold making, slip-trailing, large scale hand-building and advanced wheel-throwing will give a competitive edge to candidates applying for this position.

This is a full-time hourly position that includes a comprehensive benefits package including generous paid time off, company-sponsored healthcare and substantial company-sponsored retirement benefits.

To apply please submit your resume, portfolio of recent ceramic work and a brief cover letter to ChristopherSpitzmiller@gmail.com.
