Do you or someone you know need to work from home because:

- your company has required it?
- you are possibly ill yourself and need to self-quarantine?
- you have children home from school you need to care for?

If that's the case, and you need help in that regard, I can:

-go to your office and set up your PC for you to remote into (with company approval) **

-remote into your personal PC to set it up to connect to your work PC

-install VoIP (Voice over IP) telephone system so that you can have a "work phone" at home. VoIP allows you to answer a separate telephone at home that rings with your business number. You can do voicemail, hold and transfer calls, all as if you were in your office.

-Set you up with Skype, GoToMeeting or another video conferencing software so you can be face-to-face.

Be careful and be well,
Rick

** I will not make service calls if I have come in contact with a known infected person, have a fever or any of the symptoms.
